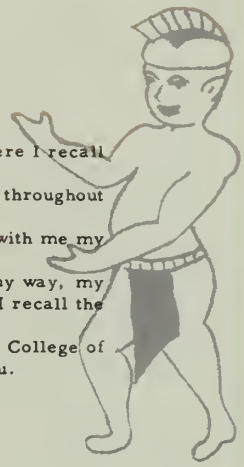
foreword



I sit here in the foyer of The Church College of Hawaii. In a few hours I will be leaving. As I sit here I recall this past year at college and its experiences.

Here I learned to love, accept, and appreciate those around me. I made friendships I will treasure throughout life, and learned truths that will guide me each day.

Today I leave those I love, trust, and respect to meet new people and new experiences, but I take with me my memories.

In the pages of this, our book of memories, I find the memory of my leaders who helped me find my way, my classmates with whom I worked and played. I recall the assemblies, church services, and the dances. I recall the Block "C" project, initiation day, the basketball tournaments, and the college band.

In years to come, names, faces, and voices will confront me and I'll recall this year at The Church College of Hawaii. Yes, I must go, but I leave you a book of memories--Na Hoa Pono--a righteous companion for you.

Aloha

Our Beloved Founder of The Church College of Hawaii...

President David O. McKay

But seek where you would, ye'd ne'er find
A maiden of loveliness greater, to me
For hers was the beauty of mind.

Dedicated to

Professor Nephi Georgi

Working at the Block "C", walking to school, teaching classes, counseling with students, and taking time to attend school functions are all part of a week's activity for Nephi Georgi, a professor of German, literature, English and debate, at The Church College of Hawaii since its beginning. One of the most popular and certainly one of the most active members of the faculty is our own Brother Georgi, to whom we pay tribute. Nephi Georgi is always willing to give advice when asked and to help solve problems when needed. There surely will be an empty spot in the hearts of the student body members when he leaves this year for sabbatical leave. This spot will be filled, however, when he returns the following year to resume his position at C. C. H.

In addition to his school responsibilities Brother Georgi is a high councilman in the Oahu Stake of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He is also a military leader, holding the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in the United States Army Reserve.

Truly a Hoa Pono--a righteous companion--to all, and a loyal promoter of school spirit is Nephi Georgi, to whom we dedicate this annual in appreciation for his unselfish and loving service given in the interest of the students.

A friend.

A sharer of knowledge.

An instructor.

A fellow worker.

All the Church schools in the Pacific, which include The Church College of New Zealand, Liahona College in Tonga, Pesega School in Samoa, which are secondary schools and The Church College of Hawaii are all under the supervision of the Pacific Board of Education.

These well qualified men are appointed by the First Presidency of the Church and devote much of their time to assure the youth of the Pacific superior educational opportunities.

Advisory Board

The Advisory Board, under the chairmanship of Harry V. Brooks, works with the President of The Church College of Hawaii directing the activities and policies here. It was formed to foster development of high standards of morality--socially, spiritually and intellectually on the CCH campus and to promote the foremost possible growth with respect to such desireable qualities.

The other qualified men of the board are Jay A. Quealy, Jr., Lawrence Haneberg, George Q. Cannon, and Fred Ellis.

Many of the school's activities would not be possible without the guiding hands and minds of such able men. There is much that the College owes to such diligence and concern coming from God-guiding men. Much of the praiseworthy productions of the college would not have been made possible without the men of the board and their guidance.

To the Advisory Board of The Church College of Hawaii go a fond Aloha from the student body of 1960 for all of its incognito work. Much of it is heard of but the source from which it stems is never revealed--until now.

May God's continued guidance be with you, the high officials that compose the Advisory Board.

PRESIDENT WOOTTON

Tbis excellent student production, Na Hoa Pono, 1960, will be your reminder in years far away of your struggles and joys at The Church College of Hawaii. We commend the staff for tbeir talent and for their tireless application of that talent to the accomplishment visible in tbis book.

Being graduates and students of this college you are more important than if you had been at another college. Tbis is not just another valuable but usual institution of higher learning. You are more important because you bave become part of God's plan in the Pacific for the peace of the world. From this college, envisioned by a propbet, built by dedicated missionary labor, and staffed by devoted Latter-day Saints will go, as President McKay predicted, "Men and women whose influence will be felt for good toward the establishment of peace internationally." You are among them.

A reknown researcher made a study to determine whetber colleges and universities changed the values of the young people attending them. He found that most of the public colleges and universities studied did not improve the values of the students to any significant extent. For having been to college, these students were no more honest, unselfisb, community minded, devoted to something of value beyond themselves tban wben they entered the Freshman class. Tbis is not so here.

At this college we see some young people come in quite without any knowledge of tbe purposes of their life, leaving with the faith that they have a destiny in the service of mankind. They come with little thought of their fellow man, leaving witb the active desire to become missionaries and accepting mission calls. Many leave as active and trained officers and teachers of tbe Churcb and of other service groups because of their education here.

Of the people pictured and represented in Na Hoa Pono, President Wendell B. Mendenhall declared: "I tell you that the combined strength of simple faith and power and leadership and force in keeping the commandments of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the urge for higher education, and the urge for building the kingdom of our Father is unsurpassed in the history of this Church... I weep openly with gratitude for the Church and the blessings that have come to our Father's children in these Pacific areas". As each of you think of your college days, you will never forget how important you are and will be to your families, communities, and God.

> "Teacb ye diligently and my grace shall attend you that you may be instructed more perfectly in theory, in principle, in doctrine, in the law of tbe gospel, in all things that pertain unto the kingdom of God, that are expedient for you to understand. Of things both in heaven and in the earth. . . things whicb are at home, things abroad, the wars and perplexities of nations and judgements which are upon the land and a knowledge also of countries and kingdoms."

Staff

Ralph D. Olson
Dean of Students

Filling the new position of Dean of Students at CCH, Ralph D. Olson serves as administrator in several capacities. Under his guidance are: The Director of Counseling Service, the Registrar and Director of Admissions, the Coordinator of Student Activities, the Advisor to Foreign Students, the Veterans' Coordinator, and the Head Dormitory Mother and Cafeteria Manager.

Nearly every problem of the students becomes a problem to be solved through the wisdom of our Dean who has certainly been a valuable addition to our competent administration.

The Counseling Service, with Dan D. Rhodes as director, has been established to meet the needs of students in making satisfactory and complete adjustment to college life. Using, as a basis for counseling, the results of the various tests he administers, educational, occupational, and personal problems as well may be worked out.

Dan D. Rhodes

Kenneth T. Slack
Librarian

Perhaps the first person every new student is acquainted with is Professor Ross Allen, in the Registrar's Office. In a matter of hours the student finds himself outside the Treasurer Office confronting Professor Frank Condie.

Throughout the year these offices are visited regularly, for the student must first stay in college academically and be secure financially.

There is scarcely a day goes by when a student does not enter the newly equipped library, or seek counsel concerning books, with Professor Kenneth Slack, the college librarian.

In addition to their responsibilities in the Registrar's and Treasurer's offices and the library, these men give class instruction.

Our builders of personality head our major divisions at C. C. H. this year, each instilling within his pupils that influence of his own personality.

Dr. Billie Hollingshead advises our large number of Education majors, while Professor Nephi Georgi works with the University Transfer students.

The Terminal Division students look to Professor Joseph Spurrier for guidance.

Two growing divisions are Physical Education headed by Brother Albert Lolotai, and Business headed by Brother Joseph Smith.

Making up the Department of Language Arts are the divisions of English, languages (foreign languages include Samoan, Hawaiian, Maori, Chinese, Japanese, and German), speech and journalism. The department is dedicated to the task of aiding the students in choosing ideals, interests, and attitudes characteristic of a cultured people and, in short, to become thinking individuals.

In order to meet the needs of everyday life, every individual must attain to a degree, physical fitness. Through the training of this department students may learn skills in individual and team situations; sportsmanship and social graces and other opportunities which foster development intellectually, emotionally, socially, and physically. To provide the opportunity for this development is the objective of the Physical Education Department.

The Department of Home Living includes three principle areas: Clothing and Textiles; Foods and Nutrition; and Homemaking. Working with modern equipment and directed by an experienced instructor, young women have the opportunity to prepare themselves for work in the fields of homemaking majors or to become homemakers in their own future homes.

HOUSING

Nearly indispensable because of her legions of duties all designed to make school and dormitory life more comfortable for her swarm of 500 students, "Mom" Emily Enos found little time to relax. In a constant effort to stretch the subborn dollars of our board and room fees Mom has been among the busiest and most devoted workers at CCH.

As head dormitory mother and cafeteria manager, Mom has charge of all the dorm mothers, relieve dorm mothers, cafeteria workers, and stucent workers. Planning menus, ordering food and supplies for the cafeteria and dormitories, and inspecting to assure the best living conditions on campus are among her many tasks.

Another successful year was attained by the Associated Men Students, including all the men of the College, under the skillful leadership of Herman Paleka, president, assisted by Pitone Ione, vice president, and Richard Lee, secretary. Professor Gwynn Barrett was advisor.

The men aimed at improving college dress standards and promoting good sportsmanship among all students.

To start the year off with a bang, a Freshman versus Sophomore football match was played.

During February an exciting Field Day entailing various activities was held, followed by their successful Annual Barn Dance.

Gratitude is extended to the officers and men for their efforts in making The Church College of Hawaii a better institution.

Working hand in hand with the AMS are the Associated Women Students, under the presidency of Gladys Chu and Advisor, Sister Lucille McAuliffe.

Again they worked at acquainting Freshman girls with new friends, new rules, and new experiences in college life.

Welcoming programs, sponsored by the AWS, with the help of the Faculty Women's organization, were held at the beginning of each quarter. It is hoped that this will become an established practice.

Credit goes to the AWS officers for their efforts, too, in encouraging more appropriate dress standards and college standards.

Highlighting the activities of the year was the AWS Preference Ball description set to the theme of "MR. WONDERFUL".

The beautiful decoration consisting of gay red & white hearts displayed the talent and organization of the members.

The sweet-scented plumeria is proclaimed queen of the island flowers, to rule in the loveliest gardens of Hawaii. It blooms in clusters where fault-finding, jealousy and rivalry are unknown, and it stands as a symbol of love and joy, when strung together in a lei.

This aptly describes the members of the Servettes Club, women who have put their hearts and hands into serving their fellow students, and citizens, under the leadership of its president, Jackie Waiwaiole. Dr. Billie Hollingshead was advisor to the Club.

The helpful Servettes have been appreciated in both school and outside projects. The members are a great asset to the school.

"Followers of today, leaders of tomorrow" describes our Freshman class.

They accepted and adjusted readily to college life, always willing to help where help was needed, whether it be carrying rocks up to the "Block C" or decorating for the Preference Ball. Led by class officers who set worthy examples, the Freshman made this a year to remember. President Barney Wihongi, from New Zealand....

"The secret of doing much is one thing at a time, even if upperclassmen feel that Freshman are not capable of doing much."

From The Kamehameha Schools for Boys, Vice-President, Alvin Goo....

"Today we strive and work, tomorrow we progress and work; and then we conquer" describes the Sophomore class.

Correlating with the fun and acts of setting traditions, and gaining class recognition, they strove to build a better future for C.C.H.

Throughout the year the Sophomores sponsored activities such as the Christmas Vacation activities, a class picnic, a student body assembly, a dance, and a Sophomore Benefit Show, the proceeds of which went into the college scholarship funds.

Their leaders were:

President Gary Wong of Roosevelt High School.

"Life is to live
Love is to give
To conquer is to understand."

Charming Vice-President Yvonne Kukahiko of Kamehameha School for Girls. . .

"I have found that if you have a better understanding of others, you will have a better understanding of yourself."

Not only will this year's junior class go down as being the first junior class in the history of The Church College of Hawaii, but it will also go down as undoubtedly, one of the least spectacular classes in the history of the college.

Collectively, the juniors have united to help strengthen their position as upper division students and also to solidify their chances of becoming the first graduating senior class from The Church College of Hawaii.

The class did not put on any assemblies, nor did it sponsor any campus dances or other activities. About the only thing that the class did for the general student body was in the designing and selection of the college graduation rings. However, in a larger sense, the efforts that the class individually made to insure and enhance their chances of graduating as seniors, might well prove to be the most important thing that has happened in the history of this institution. The success and future of the four-year-teacher training program and accreditation that this college will receive as a four-year institution depends to a very large extent on the caliber of the individual members of its first graduating senior class. So one can say that the success of this whole four-year program rests upon this year's juniors who will become next year's graduating seniors.

We have deeply appreciated the kind help and courtesies extended to the junior class by the administration and the freshman and sophomore classes. Pitone loane, as vice president; Henrietta Kahaunaele as secretary-treasurer and Dorothy Freitas as the lone student council representative have all done excellent jobs. Our heartfelt thanks to Professor Nephi Georgi who has been class advisor for the past three years.

The Church College of Hawaii's Wrestling Team, coached by Al Lolotai, did a fine job on the mat this season. This, the third year of our paramount team, being spirited together with hard work and perserverance, has brought unique athletic fame to our campus. These men showed superority on the mat when they captured the Hawaiian A.A.U. State Championship. Their talents in strength and being able to out-think and outmanuever their opponents were shown during The Church College of Hawaii's first invitational wrestling meet. Our wrestling team consists of men who hvae devoted their talents to the ideals of good sportsmanship and tolerence.

Wrestling is one of history's oldest sport and here in The Church College of Hawaii we intend to continue this sport to promote a better understanding of it and to give a greater knowledge of this sport to the people

The 1960 Na Hoa Pono staff of The Church College of Hawaii would like to extend a friendly hand to Arnold Boe who unceasingly gave of his time to produce the scenic pictures for the annual. An especially fond Aloha goes to Mr. Hideo Ishihara of Craig Stevens Studio, who unfailingly endured with us the individual picture-taking.

We would like to show our deep gratitude to Mr. Bob Naganuma of Fisher Corporation for his unwavering guidance and friendship to the staff. It is because of his special patience that the quality of the Na Hoa Pono 1960 was made possible. We are grateful for our relationship with this printing firm.

To our advisor, Sister LuDene Fresh, goes our Aloha for being an incentive to us.

To the countless others, whose names would not be able to fit here because of the lack of space, we hope that our gratitude may be seen through the publication of this yearbook. To those behind-the-scene workers--students, faculty workers, and the other volunteers, Aloha Nui Kakou. Our deepest Aloha to all for helping us make the 1960 Na Hoa Pono. It truly has created Na Hoa Pono.
